    - 3. Approved.

- VI. Legal.

- A. Update on Gold's Concrete with Anita.
    - 1. Had a meeting with JDS and they are willing to send plans to the safety bureau. They will not do anything outside of getting the dam safety bureau to sign off on the project. They will not review and comment on the work already done by Gold's Concrete.
    - 2. Steve wants to talk about the amendment to the contract with Golds and paying the invoice sent by Golds for the work done. He thinks it would be better to not have to enter litigation if possible. Mercedes is wondering if we pay the invoice, if we can then go back and charge them for any work that was not completed but paid for.
    - 3. Anita: the board is in a difficult position because you have to decide how much you are willing to pay. She has reached out to the golds attorney and they indicated that they are pursuing collection on the invoice. If the district has claims against golds in the future through reports or future work, the board can pursue the claims then. The issue right now is that golds is going to pursue

- enforcement with litigation for their payment at this time. We do not have all the info of how much of the work was done and the quality, but I can confirm they are pursuing collection on the invoice.
4. Monique: Did Steve talk to them about paying for what is done? Steve has not had any conversations with gold about what is going to be paid. Steve does have questions about some of the charges that have a lack of documentation for the expenses incurred. Steve does feel that it could be beneficial to pay the amount and sign the resolution now and avoid litigation and then go back and file claims where needed.
  5. Discussion about the possible ways to pay the invoice and ask for proof of work that was done. Anita recommends that we sign an amendment to the contract regardless.
  6. Discussion about what JDS is willing and unwilling to provide for the project. We should be receiving an email from them outlining what they will do. Submit plans to Dam safety.
  7. Beth is curious why JDS will not access Gold's work. She does agree that Gold's should be paid for the work done, but it should be the work correctly done. She thinks the biggest problem right now is we need to pay them, but how much is a fair amount to pay them. The amendment would ensure that Gold's has to come back and finish the job for the previous price. So the contract is for $128,000, and that is all the district would pay.
  8. Litigation could become very expensive and take a long time. Both sides are going to hire experts to analyze the situation. Gold's did agree to do the work for a specific amount. That could change with the new plans that JDS is making, and Golds could come back and say their bid amount is different. Estimate from Anita: 20,000 to 30,000 for litigation over a contract dispute. It is just an estimate though.
  9. Chris is wondering why Golds was there at the meeting on Sept 1. The attorneys agreed that Gold could have a representative there during the JDS meeting. Golds attorney emailed Anita right before the meeting to see if they could attend the meeting and Anita asked Steve M if that was ok. Usually both sides are allowed representation during litigation and it is a typical operating procedure to allow both sides to be present.
  10. MOC
    - a) MOC believes we are in the position we are in due to Golds. The district did not do anything to cause the issues we are currently facing (issues from the dam safety representative). He believes that the district should not be held accountable for Golds mistakes, and that Golds should not receive payment.
    - b) MOC believes that Golds should be kept in the loop. They are supposed to come back in the Spring. In the Spring, if the plans show a different route then golds will have to be corrected and that will be on their dime. Pay now and they fix any mistakes.
    - c) MOC is curious why the attorney did not pursue contract breach by Golds. Why is the district bending to Golds when they did not uphold their end of the contract. They deviated from the contract and the board did not breached the contract at any time. Anita does not think there is enough information to prove who is right or wrong at this time. The plans were old, the district stopped the work and that would mean the district technically breached the contract at that time. Both sides have breached the contract. Everything that is happening is all contract changes. Gold does have a legitimate legal claim to be paid for their work (quantum meruit). Anita believes they do have a strong claim for quantum meruit; therefore, they should be paid for work that was done. As of right now, we do not know what problems we are facing because we do not have an engineer to tell us.
    - d) MOC is curious how we are in breach of contract for stopping the work. District did not give 5 days notice.
    - e) MOC thinks the bill should be paid and then have the corrections done through the continuance of the process. We can always come back later and pursue litigation for any unsatisfactory work on our end. Work was done and they should be paid for that.
    - f) MOC feels the board has not done their job and is refusing help from the community. He is curious if his letter was sent to the attorney outlining the work done and fair amounts for said work. Unless the board has breached the contract, Golds does not have anything

- to stand on. We should not pay the full amount of the invoice and negotiate what we are willing to pay.
- g) MOC thinks we should build a bridge with Golds to ensure our needs are met and avoid litigation. The funds that would go to litigation could be better spent elsewhere for the community. Agrees with the Attorney.
  - h) MOC would like to see a report of what is wrong with the work that was being done.
  - i) MOC is concerned about the route the lawyer is recommending.
11. Beth: We do not have an engineer stating what is wrong. We do have dam safety stating that the work is incorrect. Why is that not good enough to state that there is work that is not correct. Steve agrees that there are problems with the work. The problem right now is whether or not we pursue litigation. Steve believes that any deficiencies with the project will be corrected with the new plans and future work. He thinks the important thing right now is to avoid litigation.
  12. Steve is wondering if the amendment to the contract needs to be modified (yes).
  13. Anita agrees with the points the MOC are making. She can not tell the board what to do. She can give legal advice to the board. You can wait until the engineer sends their report and then go off the report.
  14. Steve: Do we want Anita to revise the amendment based on the information that has come up since the first draft?
    - a) MOC
      - (1) MOC if we pay them, is there a way we can have someone on site to ensure the project is done correctly. (yes we can hire a project manager).
    - b) Chris: We need to present the letter from the community to Golds and start negotiating the price for the invoice. Start with the agreement for the invoice price then sign the amendment. Anita agrees we negotiate first and then draft a new amendment. The board needs to decide what negotiations they would like to do. Executive sessions can be held for negotiation.
    - c) Mercedes: would we attempt to find an engineer to review the work already done? Steve: the board would need to decide if they would base it off Rick's email, or look for an engineer. My focus remains to try and avoid litigation.
      - (1) MOC I think starting at Rick's estimate would be a good place to start negotiation and seems like a fair amount.
      - (2) MOC thinks we need to address the cost of JDS now on the project and also how we ensure that gold does not adjust their price in the spring. The district is incurring costs already due to golds' mistakes. Negotiations have to be extremely clear about if golds is going to finish the project and if there will be any additional costs. We need to address the contract along with what we are willing to pay.
      - (3) MOC is wondering if the board should be preventive or reactive. We should get all the information first and then decide what to pay. Discussion about paying the invoice and avoiding litigation vs getting all the information we need and then review the contract and invoice and get all the info to the attorney. Steve is worried that by the time we would be able to get all the info and review, we would have to enter litigation first.
      - (4) Discussion about the dam safety email stating the work was not acceptable and why the district should/shouldn't pay for unacceptable work.
  15. Chris thinks Anita should be better brought up to speed with what dam safety has sent us. He thinks renegotiation should be the first step. He is also concerned that Golds could shut their doors before they come back for the project and the district would be out that money with no recourse.
  16. MOC thinks we should review what we may pay them and all additional costs. The district also runs the risk of Gold walking away and the district has to start over.
  17. Motion to base our payment off Rick's number at $25,464 for payment for work completed and start negotiation through the attorneys.
    - a) CM motion.
    - b) MB seconded.
